

AUXILIARY STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Elizabeth Armstrong is a high honors graduate of Rothesay High School. She has just completed third year of the Bachelor of Science Program at UNBSJ, continuing on the Dean's list for overall scholastic excellence. She is described as an amazing student, who conducts herself with academic integrity in all aspects.

Elizabeth is an executive member of the Science, Applied Science and Engineering Society, and the recipient of several awards for academic achievement, including the Humanities and Languages Scholarship (Proficiency in French). She has also been a Promise Partnership Mentor and a Peer Mentor.

Elizabeth is an active volunteer in the Emergency Department and the Pediatric Department at the Saint John Regional Hospital, as well as a volunteer in the gift shop. Her community service includes volunteering with the elderly at a local Nursing Home, serving as Nursery Worker during Sunday morning church services and providing volunteer First Aid services during sporting events.

Besides her interest in the sciences, Elizabeth enjoys music, reading, working with children, travelling and hiking. Her long term goal is to attend medical school to eventually become a pediatrician. Self-described as goal-oriented and driven, Elizabeth is sure to make an impact on her community in years to come. She is a commendable recipient of the SJRH Auxiliary Student Achievement Award for 2015.

AUXILIARY STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Emma Crowley has been a regular volunteer at the Saint John Regional Hospital since 2009. She is known for her outstanding commitment and friendliness. Graduating from UNB with a Bachelor of Science this year, Emma has been on the Dean's List for 2012, 2013 and 2014, and was recently awarded the UNBSJ Graduating student leadership award. She has been described as an "amazing student" with an outstanding academic record.

She was approved to study abroad at the Universite' de Poitiers in France for year three of her degree. Upon her return she volunteered to help newly-arrived international students to feel welcome and has helped to promote the Student Abroad Program to other UNB students.

Always active in student affairs, this year Emma was Co-President of the Golden Key International Honour Society; and also was invited to be a Guest Speaker at the Science, Applied Science and Engineering Event.

In addition to her volunteerism, Emma is a lifeguard, a violinist, a tutor, and a member of her church choir. This fall she will be attending Medical School, where she will continue her education to become a physician. Our best wishes for continued success are extended to her as a 2015 recipient of the SJRH Auxiliary Student Achievement Award.

AUXILIARY STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

Marissa Gale is a 2015 recipient of the Auxiliary Student Achievement Award. An honours graduate of Kennebecasis Valley High School in 2010, Marissa also graduated with First Class Honours from UNBSJ in 2014, obtaining a Bachelor of Science (major in Biology and minor in Chemistry). She is a member of the Golden Key International Honour Society. In the year she graduated, Marissa was presented the UNBSJ Student Leader Award as well as the UNB Sir Howard Douglas Award, acknowledging both academic achievement and community involvement.

Described as altruistic and kind, Marissa has volunteered for a wide variety of organizations including the Saint John Regional Hospital, Xerox Curl for Cancer, Walk for MS, and the Dragon Boat Festival. She was a mentor with Promise Partnership as well as a Peer Mentor at UNBSJ.

In the field of sport, Marisa was an elite athlete in junior women's curling, committed to a schedule of training hard every day. She also enjoys softball, swimming, knitting, reading and cross-stitching.

Marissa's quest to become a physician will begin this fall, as she has been accepted into Dalhousie Medical School. Described as an exceptional human being who possesses the qualities necessary to make the world a better place, we wish her much success in her chosen field.
