

AUXILIARY DR. DEBORAH MITTON VOLUNTEER AWARD

Claire Flood is an honors graduate of Rothesay High School. She has just completed the third year of her Bachelor of Arts at St. Thomas University, where she continues to excel in her studies. With a major in psychology, Claire is following in her mother's footsteps and seeking her Master's in speech language pathology. Claire is described as extremely organized, genuinely caring, and having a warm sense of humour that adds to the positive interactions around her.

The Dr. Deborah Mitton volunteer award is given to an individual in acknowledgement of dedication to volunteerism, high academic achievement and dedication to their future career. Claire more than embodies all of these characteristics.

With approximately 150 volunteer hours at the Saint John Regional Hospital in the past year alone, Claire also volunteers with youth in kindergarten classes, goal youth group, library reading clubs, etc. It is very clear that Claire holds high value in volunteerism.

Outside of her time volunteering, Claire is heavily involved in student activities such as celebration of faith and diversity, fundraising for a women's shelter, and many other clubs. She is also very active, participating in cross-country and track and field teams, as well as yoga.

Given her glowing recommendations and overall positivity, we are certain that Claire will excel in her chosen profession of speech language pathology, making Claire a worthy recipient of the SJRH Auxiliary Dr. Deborah Mitton Volunteer Award for 2016.

AUXILIARY THERESA CASEY VOLUNTEER AWARD

Patrick Hickey is a recent honors graduate of Saint John High School. He plans on attending the University of Ottawa in the coming year and ultimately plans to pursue admission into medical school. He is described as young man of energy, intelligence and integrity.

The Theresa Casey volunteer award is awarded to a well-rounded high school student who is also an outstanding volunteer. Given that one would be hard pressed to think of something that Patrick has not done, he exemplifies the definition of a well-rounded individual.

With approximately 130 volunteer hours at the Saint John Regional Hospital in the past year alone, Patrick is very dedicated to his volunteer commitments. Outside of the hospital he has also volunteered for Sculpture Saint John, the Salvation Army, and the Empty Stocking Fund.

Besides his interests in volunteering, Patrick instructs both tennis and skiing. Being very involved in his school, Patrick is also the President of the student council and the Green Team, and participates in such other clubs as the yearbook committee, school musical, debate team, school choir, and many more. The list could go on and on.

Patrick has noted that he has enjoyed having the opportunity to “Brighten the lives of so many” within the hospital; for that, and so many other reasons, we commend you as the recipient of the SJRH Auxiliary Theresa Casey Volunteer Award for 2016.

AUXILIARY PEGGY BULMER VOLUNTEER AWARD

Jordan Stackhouse is an honors graduate of Rothesay High School. He has just completed third year of the Bachelor of Science Program at UNBSJ, continuing on the Dean's list for overall scholastic excellence. He is described as a caring and compassionate young man who is passionate about science and medicine and has a strong desire to learn.

The Peggy Bulmer volunteer award is awarded to acknowledge a volunteer with outstanding people skills who is committed to excellence in every aspect of volunteering; with Jordan, it was clear as soon as he entered the room to meet us that he was exactly that person.

With nearly 160 volunteer hours at the Saint John Regional Hospital in the past year alone, Jordan is clearly a very dedicated volunteer. Outside of the hospital where Jordan has shown tremendous empathy with patients, Jordan also volunteers for the Promise Partnership at UNBSJ and as a tournament assistant for various chess championships. In addition to other community involvement, his interests include chess, biking, travel and health and fitness.

Jordan has ambitions of continuing on to medical school to pursue family medicine. He is a commendable recipient of the SJRH Auxiliary Peggy Bulmer Volunteer Award for 2016.
